Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 28 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers becoming longer spells of rain, some heavy and thundery.

Today:
Showers likely developing during the morning, these bringing a low risk of thunder. Showers will merge into longer spells of rain, these will likely become heavy and thundery. Breezy with a fresh feel. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers or rain tending to ease overnight, with some partly cloudy skies. Cloudy with some outbreaks of rain tending to linger over western hills. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Thursday:
A bright start but soon becoming cloudy during the morning. A risk of further showers developing in the afternoon and into the evening. Warm. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Often changeable through the period, with a mixture of sunshine, showers or spells of thundery rain. Winds remaining largely light. Warm initially but trending to a cooler feel.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.